Dear Tom:

I received a call from Gottlieb this morning telling me The Grays and The Yankees had played a game in Washington last night which The Grays won. They had decided to make it a league game. It was not in the schedule either tentatively or otherwise.

I am writing to ask you if this is permissible. We agreed at the meeting that games could not be added and subtracted at the pleasure of the teams involved. If this can be allowed there is nothing to prevent two teams from getting together and doing anything. Especially a weak one and a strong one.

I would appreciate an answer from you as to what was decided at the meeting, or what you think is right.

I hope you are enjoying good health suppose we will be having a meeting soon.

Very Truly Yours
